European-style 'Suzi' coils that place less strain on plugs are now available from NARVA for trucks in New Zealand.

NARVA has released the new Australian-made European style coil range catering for a more open coil structure traditionally found on European trucks.

The new "Euro Coil" incorporates a larger diameter coil design to reduce cable sag coupled with a light weight insulation, retaining excellent retraction memory with greater flexibility overall.

Whilst retaining the popular USA 'Suzi' cables in the range, including the extra heavy duty cables, four new cables have been introduced into the NARVA program catering for cables with and without plugs with short and long tails.

"The 'Euro Coil' reduced tension cables place less strain on the plugs and are ideal for use with the commonly used Po-Go sticks," says Don Tennet, of NARVA New Zealand.

The new coils are manufactured from Polyamide 11 and 12, 7 core 4mm, recoiling to very short length for ease of storage when not in use.

The new NARVA 'Euro Coil' electrical 'Suzi' coils are available from selected automotive and transport outlets throughout New Zealand.
